USES & BENEFITS

- The Vernonia seeds are used as a medicine for white leprosy, and such other skin diseases. The seeds are generally hot and have a sharp taste.
- Several products can be made from Vernonia including epoxies for manufacturing adhesives, varnishes and paints, industrial coatings so on and so forth.
- Vernonia Oil has low viscosity. This property would allow it to be used as a nonvolatile solvent in oil-based paints as it will become incorporated in the dry paint rather than evaporating into the air.
- Vernonia could also be used as a natural source of plasticizers and stabilizers for producing PVC plastic and such other things.
